Potato Chip Rock

One of San Diego's most iconic images is Potato Chip Rock – the landmark that is a thin sliver protruding out of a rocky ledge at the end of a 4-mile hike on Mount Woodson in Poway. Though it may appear delicate, it has held up for decades' worth of memorable group photos. It has been one of the most photographed areas in San Diego as hikers and travelers all around the world praise the beautiful trek to see it. No trip to San Diego is complete without checking this trail off your wish list.

Tony Gwynn Memorial – Poway

The City of Poway honored long-time resident and baseball legend, Tony Gwynn, with a memorial statue and Plaza at Lake Poway. His devotion to the San Diego Padres baseball team showed in his 8 batting titles, 15 trips to the All-Star game and five Gold Glove awards. However, to the people of Poway, he was more than a superstar athlete. He was an ideal parent, grandparent, friend, and community contributor.

Lazy River in Harrah's Resort

You deserve to take a step back from your daily worries and relax on Harrah's Resort Lazy River. Feel all the tension and stress peel off as you float down 400 feet of a gentle river, making you feel as if you found your paradise as you drift off into a sweet siesta. Amongst the two waterfalls, a hot tub, nine cabanas, and four daybeds, you are bound to find something that makes you feel relaxed and refreshed.

Sunny Jim's Cave

As one of the only sea caves that is accessible by land, Sunny Jim's Cave provides an extraordinary view of the nearby shores. This man-made cave was built during America's Prohibition Era and now serves as a historical landmark, conveniently set adjacent to a picturesque overlook of the ocean. When you reach the end of the cave, you get a view of the ocean that would be difficult to match anywhere else.

Elfin Forest

Elfin Forest is one of San Diego County's most precious natural resources, and it earns this name in more ways than one. While wandering through this forest you might want to immerse yourself into their 11 miles of trails for hiking, mountain biking, and equestrian use.

Trapeze High

Looking for an adrenaline rush? Why not take a flying leap into trapeze lessons. Located in Escondido, Trapeze High is the only flying trapeze school in San Diego County. Participants 7 years and older learn how to swing, fly and catch under the coaching of trained instructors. Safety lines, a body harness and a net will allow you to fly through the air with the greatest of ease. It may even face your fears and potentially get you in the best shape so, enjoy with family and friends while you fly through the sky.

Deer Park Monastery

Deer Park Monastery was created by Thich Nhat Hanh, a Vietnamese Buddhist monk, author and peace activist. It currently serves as a mindfulness practice center and monastic training center where people can come to quiet the mind, reflect deeply, and enjoy the wonders of life within and around themselves. You can either spontaneously stop by for a day, or commit yourself to the program through a longer retreat.

Swim with the Otters

Swim with otters – the name says it all! Nurtured by Nature is a nonprofit organization founded by Kevin and Wendy Yates as a thank you to the community that helped them adjust their lives after their homes were burned down in a fire. Now, this program uses the funds collected from adventures with animals – such as swimming with otters – to help children with life-threatening illnesses. Guests get to pet and feed a wide variety of animals during their visits, such as sloths, armadillos, kangaroos, and horses.

Admire the Animals from a Bird's Eye View

The Safari Park now offers the Flightline Safari, a high-flying zipline that allows you to soar over their largest enclosure and observe the rhinos, giraffes, and much more from a whole new perspective. Reaching heights up to 130 feet and traveling nearly two-thirds of a mile, riders get to take in a spectacular panoramic view of the Park and its surrounding landscape.

A Giant Kelp Forest

Perched on a bluff in La Jolla and overlooking the Pacific Ocean, the Birch Aquarium features 60 habitats from the cold waters of the Pacific Northwest to the tropical waters of the Western Pacific. The two-story Giant Kelp Forest immerses guests into the underwater world — no dive gear necessary!

Surf the Earth at Maderas

Add a whole new twist to your day out on the links by riding from tee to tee on a Golfboard! Golfboards speed up the pace of play and have changed the game of golf in San Diego. Imagine being able to go directly to your ball after hitting a tee shot without having to ride along in the cart while your playing partner chases down a shanked ball. The idea behind Golfboards is to bring the player closer to the surface while providing a completely different golf experience.

Hike Your Way Up North

Hiking is a great way to disconnect from our fast-paced lives and instead connect with family and friends to bring a sense of balance back into life. Hikers looking for some quality time in nature have a wealth of options in North County. The San Dieguito River Valley offers a variety of trails, ranging from easy to strenuous. Palomar Observatory Trail & Campground

This rare San Diego gem may be under the radar, even to those living and recreating in the nearby areas. With an abundance of large pine, fir and cedar trees, this trail feels more like a trek through the Sierra Nevada's than almost any other in Southern California. Offering sweeping views of the Mendenhall Valley, large meadows, gleaming ponds and sprouting wildflowers, this robustly unique hike has something for almost any level of outdoor enthusiast.

Listed as one of only four National Recreational trails in San Diego County, this shaded 4.4 mile hike is touted as the perfect summer option, providing good aerobic activity on a well maintained trail, with access to a world-famous observatory. Located on Palomar Mountain 10 miles north of the 76.

Those looking to spend a weekend on the mountain will find comfortable amenities at the Observatory Campground, where campers have the opportunity to participate in the summer "star parties" hosted by the Palomar Observatory. Explore the night skies through the enormous 200-inch Hale Telescope. Reservations for the campground can be made up to six months in advance by visiting recreation.gov. Those planning to visit the trailhead will need to purchase a $5 adventure pass, which can be acquired at the site or a nearby Ranger District.

Visit Escondido Explore! Experience! Enjoy!

By Katherine Zimmer San Diego weather is gorgeous and sometimes has you thinking “what shall I do?” You want to get outside, yes! You want to experience amazing food and drink, yes! You want to see something spectacular, yes!

Escondido may mean “hidden” in Spanish, but the word is getting out that there’s a lot going on. Let’s start with the “getting outside” part of your wish list. What better way to unplug than an early morning hike on picturesque trails in the peaceful hills above Escondido at Daley Ranch. Lace up those sneakers and start your day appreciating this untouched world with the morning light streaming through the trees.

If you’d like a more exotic animal-populated experience, go to the San Diego Zoo Safari Park! This amazing animal sanctuary provides all levels of the safari experience. If you haven’t been there in the last six months, you’re missing a lot. Fantastic exhibits and shows come and go.

Next up, culinary delights are plentiful all around Escondido. Enjoy spectacular views at Vintana Wine + Dine located at the top of The Centre at Lexus. This super unique venue includes an art gallery, shopping, live music and Vintana’s beautiful dining room and bar. Check out the outdoor patio with fire pits while sipping a refreshing cocktail!

What can you see that makes you say “WOW!” Queen Califia’s Magical Circle is the only American sculpture garden and the last major international project created by French artist Niki de Saint Phalle. Its location is even mysterious, tucked away within a 12-acre natural habitat in the Iris Sankey Arboretum in Kit Carson Park. Have a seat and take it all in. Little ones absolutely adore this place and the photo possibilities are endless.

Ready for dinner and a concert? Enjoy the beautiful gardens at the “home tap” of Stone Brewing World Bistro & Gardens. If you have time, take the brewery tour. It’s a great way to learn more about what makes craft beer special. Finally, end your day by experiencing visual or performing arts at the California Center for the Arts, Escondido. Their diverse show season is always packed with a variety of performances from internationally famous musicians, comedy shows or free community events.

There is so much to do in this distinctive city that it can’t all be fit into this space! You’ll simply have to get out and experience it for yourself!

A vibrant, circular collage-style graphic for Visit Escondido. At the top, it says "Come for the wildlife... stay for the culture!". Below this is a logo featuring a sun rising over mountains with the text "VISIT ESCONDIDO™". Under the logo, it says "Explore! Experience! Enjoy!". A central quote reads: "Escondido may mean 'hidden' but it's no secret that there's a lot going on here!". The collage includes various images: a person on a bicycle, a red train car with a license plate that says "ESCONDIDO CRZN GRND", a giraffe, a colorful parrot, a glass of red wine, and a plate of food. At the bottom, it says "Escondido is home to major attractions, beautiful wineries, craft breweries, unique arts and theatre, delicious culinary experiences and a charming historic downtown." and "VisitEscondido.com" with social media icons for Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter.

Treasures Abound at the Del Mar Fairgrounds!

By Annie Pierce

Tucked into a picture-perfect oceanfront setting in Del Mar, the fairgrounds offer opportunities that will delight all of your senses throughout the year. There's no shortage of show-stopping options that'll wow you.

San Diego County Fair

Each June through the Fourth of July, the Del Mar Fairgrounds transforms into a magical world of tasty treats, flashy entertainment, adorable farm animals, scream-worthy carnival rides, fantastic festivals, goofy competitions (think watermelon-seed-spitting), and endless opportunities for fun. It simply wouldn't be summer in San Diego without this iconic fair, which draws approximately 1.6 million visitors annually and is one of the top five fairs in the United States and Canada. No two days are exactly alike at the fair, and you'll find new treasures each time you visit.

Del Mar Races

Nostalgia abounds at the Del Mar Racetrack, where Bing Crosby greeted fans at the front gate when it opened in 1937. The very next year, the Del Mar Thoroughbred Club hosted a $25,000 winner-takes-all match race between Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit and the Binglin Stables' colt, Ligaroti. The race drew a record crowd, where Seabiscuit won by a nose. Today, the racetrack features two racing seasons: July-September and November-December. One of the largest draws each year continues to be opening day, with its renowned hat contests and celebrated parties.

KAABOO Del Mar

Tens of thousands of music lovers have been descending on the idyllic seaside setting of the Del Mar Fairgrounds to soak in the sights and sounds of KAABOO Del Mar since it began in 2015. This three-day music celebration draws world-class music and comedy, inspiring contemporary art, gourmet food and craft libations.

While the San Diego County Fair, Del Mar Racetrack and KAABOO Del Mar draw the largest crowds, the Del Mar Fairgrounds hosts more than 300+ events annually, which includes the renowned Del Mar National Horse Show each April and an exciting haunted attraction called The Scream Zone each October.
